

Rutgers Students

Overview

The “Entrepreneurship Team Consulting” course at Rutgers University brings top senior business undergraduate students into a consulting practicum where they can work on projects to solve client business problems in startup and early-stage businesses.

This course provides the opportunity for students to sharpen their research, problem-solving, data integration and analysis, presentation and team building and leadership skills, while the sponsoring company (client) receives the benefits of a wide range of knowledge and experience.

Students are organized into teams with skills matched as closely as possible to the needs of the client. All teams are under the tutelage of experienced faculty.

Front: (Staff) Jena Chambers, Diane Davis, Joyce Johnson

Back: (Students) Francis Lee, Wei Kwok, Rachel Toomey, Sam Haines, Paul Halbkram

Back: Joyce "Hollywood" Johnson, Jena Chambers, Diane Davis, Wei Kwok, Rachel Toomey

Left: Francis Lee, Wei Kwok, Rachel Toomey, Sam Haines, Paul Halbkram